

CHAPTER VI

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter presents the conclusion and suggestion of the study. The conclusion summarized the result of the research based on the research problems. So, it summarized about practices in teaching English at MAN PK 4 Jombang. This kind of teaching practices included the method was used, practices were carried out in the class, and practice were carried out outside the class of MAN PK 4 Jombang.

A. Conclusion

Based on the result of the study it based on researcher can be concludes some points as follows:

1. The method was used in English language teaching practices by English teachers of MAN PK 4 Jombang was direct method, communicative language teaching, and the silent way that emphasized on the interaction, communication, and activeness of students in the classroom.
2. ELT Practices were carried out inside and practices were carried out outside the class in process of teaching English at MAN PK 4 Jombang that was done by English teachers and tutors, including the conversation and discussion. These activities are included in speaking activities, namely emphasizing the process of good communication, these activities are used to enhance the English skills of students.

B. Suggestion

Based on the drawn conclusion above, there are some suggestions which are important to be considered by other English teachers, students, and other researchers.

For English teacher and institution, providing suitable teaching strategy an effective learning environment is important in creating successful language learning. Students have to be involved concerning with learning since it is for their need. By considering, students' needs and their condition should be the priority to create good teaching and learning. In addition, teaching English could be more effective when it is supported by a good learning environment. Dealing with attaining the successful teaching and learning, the good environment has a big impact to help students understand about the inputs from learning. The other point that should be known is to provide the appropriate name to the program provided so that it is not overlap with the real meaning of those programs because the name implies the meaning and the aim of a program.

Meanwhile, for students, it is essential for them to use their opportunity to practice English in many ways. Each activity has a different benefit which is potential support them to master all competencies in English skill. Furthermore, all components relevant to English should be learned intensively supported having awareness toward the importance of English. In this way, students could learn easily and able to master English well.

Finally, for the future researchers, they can conduct a further study related to efforts in supporting English proficiency by involving all skills in English considering that each skill is interconnected. The future researchers can learn and use the delimitations of the present study as a reference to conduct another study related to the efforts in supporting English proficiency.