CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

After reviewing and explaining some findings the researcher comes into last discussion. In this chapter the researcher provides two sections, those are conclusion and suggestion.

A. Conclusion

This final section is the conclusion. The language realizations that performed from this research are 43 utterances or statements those are included agreement and disagreement. In the agreement section, itself performed specifically with an intensifier, synonym, repetition, and other agreement. In disagreement section performed is performed with indirect objection and direct objection. The finding is quite little and not predicted as much as the researchers thought.

The reason is that this theory is suitable for direct communication that needs more feedback. But in the debate, this natural performance cannot be found. The feedback is pretty slow. Even this theory can be classified as not really match with the object but still, there are always agreement and disagreement performed by the speakers except the second speaker that does not perform agreement at all with the motion or the first speaker from the government team.

The pattern found in this research can be classified as the most valuable finding. The pattern used is repetition. The speaker retells what the previous speaker opinion or statement then they perform agreement or disagreement directly after that. This pattern is used to strengthen and rebate the previous speaker. This pattern still can be used for the beginner or students as well in the simpler words.

The strartegy that has been used by the debaters are negative politeness strategy. It has been sed in order to make the objection more accaptable. It is bacause very importent to make their face save by showing respect objection. So, negativ poiteness strategy is commanly used in the debate competiotion.

B. Suggestion

Based on the results of the study, there are some suggestions addressed for the reader and future researcher that willing to conduct a study on the same topic.

For the reader who is a teacher the finding of this research can be used to teach the students especially the pattern of the most debaters used. The variety of this research is also can be used and for the suggestion it can be simplified for the level of the students. And the last finally the researcher finds that the complexity, creativity, and fluency that performed by the speaker are very good. Hopely through this research debate can be included in the lesson of speaking as needed.

For the government or the authority hopely this research can contribute to the system of education. It is not much finding because the researcher is only a students and conducts the research as cheap as possible so the finding is not significantly improved the system of education in a whole.

For the students who independently study debate. This should be one reference as well besides other books or references about the debate, or the students can use this thesis as references to write their paper this research hope can be used as additional references as well.

For further researchers who conducts the research that focused on agreement and disagreement that purposed by Brown and Leech in the different books or the debate, this research can be used as well. The researcher of this research hopes this research can be fixed and perfected in the future.
