

CHAPTER V

DISCUSSION

This chapter explains discussion about the position of findings by comparing or contrasting the finding and the written current theories which are relevant.

In the Chapter IV, the researcher explains the finding of educational values in the Lion king movie and how the educational value presented in the Lion King Movie. The researcher analyze the movie and found many educational values in the Lion King Movie. Based on the the Finding in Chapter IV before, the reseacher found 57 data of educational value. Bravery found eleven data, while honesty found nine data. Continued with confidence and potential found eight data, loyalty found seven data, self and discipline found six data, love and affection found four data, then respect,not selfish,kind and friendly found three data, fair and humanist two data and the last is purity found only one data.

All parts of educational values according to the theory of Zaim El Mubarak (2008:12) can be found in The Lion King Movie. We can implicate these educational values in daily life. From honesty value that contained in the lion king movie we can learn that answering something honestly can lead us to good things. The lesson we can take from the brave values is that in achieving what we want, we should have the courage to betray what should be ours. The following is value of confidence and potential. Every time when we do something, we should have confidence in our own abilities. Optimism that we can do something worthy we will suggest ourselves that we will be able to achieve our goals. The next educatiobal value that we can learn in the lion king movie is self discipline. Discipline in doing things that we have planned, discipline in keeping our promises, discipline in obeying parents' orders are good things that we should apply in daily life. The last educational value in part value of being is purity, every human being was born with a pure heart. Sometimes we carry it with us into adulthood. Having a pure heart will still make us feel compassion, help and etc.

While there are six educational value that can learn in the part of the value of giving, the first is loyalty. In the daily life we should have a loyal attitude. Having a loyal attitude can make us trusted by others, not fickle in speech, and reliable. The next is the value of respect, as a human who need each other we must have respect value. When we have respect, we will have a sense of humanity, tolerance, respect for differences, respect for the opinions of others and so on. The next value that we can take is not selfish value. Being an unselfish human being is a plus that we should have. We are not selfish in imposing our will, not selfish in achieving our desires, when we not selfish on something it does not mean we lose.

Kind and friendly is a value that we can also take in The Lion King Movie. Being kind and friendly to others is the hallmark of Indonesian people. In human relations as social beings, we should be kind and help each other when someone needs our help. Having a love and affection value is also important in society. We should caring for fellow human beings, love for the homeland, love for parents, relatives, special people in our lives and so on. The last is Fair and Humanist, Fair and Humanist is an equally important value that we can learn in The Lion King Movie. Fighting for justice and providing justice can save us from conflict.

Not only that eleven educational values based on theory of Zaim El Mubarak. The researcher also found two unique value that was found in this movie, those are the value of responsibility and not giving up. In daily life we should have a sense of responsibility towards our obligations. The next unique value is not giving up. When we face trials, life problems, or difficult things, we should not giving up of hope, experiencing failure or defeat is a normal thing, we must rise and fight so as not to face the same thing in the future.

At table 4.2 in the chapter four has presented seven data showing indirect values. Indirect value can only found if the audience follows the storyline of a movie. After watching The Lion King Movie and following the plot, the researcher found seven educational values that were conveyed indirectly in The Lion King Movie. The implicit educational values based on the research findings are self-discipline, responsibility, never give up, brave, not selfish, loyalty, kind and friendly. Meanwhile, All finding dialogs presented in table 4.1 are explicit educational values because in these dialogues the educational values are directly conveyed. The audience can catch or recognize the type of educational value that is in the dialogue directly.

From the discussion above, it can be seen that the finding of educational value in the chapter four is relevant with the theory that the resecher have described in the chapter two. That theory is classify educational value by Zaim El Mubarak. According to Zaim El Mubarak (2008: 12) educational value is divided into 2 parts those are Value of being and Value of giving. Value of Being consist of (a) honesty, (b) brave, (c) confident and potential, (d) self decipline (e) purity. Meanwhile value of giving consist of (a) loyalty, (b) respect, (c) love and affection, (d) not selfish, (e) kind and friendly, (f) fair and humanist. The educational value are presented in the lion king movie also relevant with the theory accordig to Taylor (1996: 3-14). Those are explicit and implicit educational value.

Then, the researcher comparred this research with the previous research was done by Yuni Mitayani (2010) who take the same topic with the title is “Educational Values in The Finding Nemo Movie”. In previous reasearch, she found eight educational value in the “Finding Nemo” movie. Those are (a) honesty, (b) brave, (c) purity, (d) loyalty, (e) respectful, (f) love and affection, (g) kind and friendly, (h) sacrifice, and (i) not selfish. In her research there are 22 data found in Finding Nemo movie. Honesty found two data, brave found two data, purity two data, loyalty found three data, respectful found two data, love and affection are three data, kind and friendly found four data, sacrifice found two data, and not selfish also found two data.

The researcher concluded that every movie has differences and some similarities in finding educational values. Researcher had proven by comparing this research with previous studies that use different object. The result is that in Finding Nemo movie found eight educational values and in The Lion King movie found all categories of educational value based on theory of Zaim El Mubarak.
