

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter presented the conclusion and suggestions of this research. After analyzing the data about the parent support in learning English through online mode, the researcher presents a conclusion and suggestion

A. Conclusion

Based on the findings and discussions described in the previous chapter, the researcher concludes that there are 4 types of parent support, namely: emotional support, instrumental support, informational support, and appraisal support. These types of parent support influence the sustainability of the student learning process carried out during a pandemic or can be called online mode. During the online learning process, parents have an important role in providing their support in the form of providing motivation, advice, and enthusiasm for students in the learning process, especially in learning English. Not only providing support, but parents must also contribute to assisting students, such as parental support or parental assistance in the form of additional learning tools such as smartphones and data packages, students can look for references regarding more information than the material they have received from the teacher subjects. So that students can give the best results during the online learning process.

From the conclusions above, it can be seen that the support and assistance from parents to students will make students feel that their parents care about each of their learning activities. In addition, students can also get the best results from their learning process, especially in English lessons.

B. Suggestion

Based on the conclusion above, the researcher suggests to parent and future researchers as follows:

1. Parent

The results of the research above can inspire all parents in educating their children. Especially during difficult times such as the spread of the covid-19 virus which requires every activity to be carried out online, including learning activities. At times like this, parents should be able to give more attention and support to students so that they continue to carry out learning activities well. By giving attention, support, and the needs of students during the online learning process, students will remain comfortable carrying out these activities.

2. Future researchers

The suggestion for the future researcher related with the research about parent support in student learning through online mode was; this research can be as an example and reference of conducting the next research at similar variable. So that, future researchers can explain more about the findings.