

CHAPTER VI

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter mainly is a review of previous chapter. The writer will try to draw conclusion of what she has described. This chapter also includes the suggestions for English student, English teacher, and future researcher.

A. Conclusion

This study had discussed the types and patterns of derivational and inflectional affixes used by One Direction in This Is Us movie subtitle. Therefore, this following conclusion is based on the research problems.

1. There are two types of derivational affixes; change the lexical category of speech and changing the meaning of the lexical category of bases.
2. The total of derivational affixes used by One Direction in This Is Us movie subtitle are one hundred forty-three (143). In Type of changing the meaning of the lexical category of bases, there are eight (8) types. Next, there are twenty six (26) types of derivational affixes belong to change the lexical category of speech. From the discussion, in changing the lexical category of speech, namely suffix -ly, is the most frequently used because the actors want to make clear about their expression or the condition that happened in this movie to the audiences/viewers.
3. The total of inflectional affixes used by One Direction in This Is Us movie subtitle are three hundred and eighty (379) with the suffix -s as plural marker is most frequently used by the members of One Direction because this kind of suffix is most nouns taken as inflectional suffix to form a plural.

4. From that we can know that the distinction between inflectional and derivational morphemes is that inflectional morphemes are more productive, including in this movie subtitle where the daily conversation is mainly happens.

B. Suggestion

Having known the result of this research, the writer humbly gives suggestions as follow:

1. For the students: they should have more study the derivational and inflectional words not only from their hand book but also from another sources like movie subtitle.
2. For the teacher: they should have to vary the teaching and learning media especially in teaching vocabulary and grammar is one of by using movie subtitle.
3. For the future researcher: they should have to use different resources to find more of types or pattern of derivational and inflectional affixes.
