

CHAPTER VI

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter contains two parts. The first part deals with the conclusion of the activity of how effective teachers employed their classroom management in English classes. The second part presents some suggestions derived from the implications of the conclusions.

A. Conclusion

From the results of this research that has been discussed in chapter IV, the researcher can conclude that:

The conclusion of this research is that in managing English classroom, there are many points of prerequisites to be effective teachers. Those are Verbal Ability, Content Knowledge, Educational Coursework, Teacher Certification, and Teacher Experience. Every point has some sub point that must be done as effective teachers when managing their classroom. The first Verbal Ability is about how teachers communicate effectively with students, try to know more about student's personality, and the last they try to direct the student's attention while the learning was going on in and out the classroom. The second Content Knowledge, this point explain that teacher should be able to convey enthusiasm and understanding, convey knowledge to the students, and connect the real world with the curriculum or subject of learning. The third is Educational Coursework. In this point, the researcher knows that as effective teachers that managing classroom activity, teachers conduct their professional development in field result, that is to increased student's achievement in various forms by well manage their students. The fourth is Teacher Certification that related with pedagogical competence of teachers and it has some point should be mastered by teachers. Those are teachers must be able to understand the character of the students, master the learning materials; develop the curriculum; communicate effectively with the students; able to use technology; facilitate the students; conduct assessment, evaluation, and reflection. The last is Teacher Experience that also influence in managing classroom activity. Teachers can initiative, innovate, improve, or evaluate from their past teaching experience. It will help teachers to be more creative in determined strategy, method, or media that used in the next teaching and learning.

B. Suggestion

Based on the conclusion above, the researcher would like to offer some suggestions which are presented for:

1. English Teachers

As an effective teacher, teachers should be able to open and communicate well with their students because today it will be difficult to manage them while in the class activity. Teachers should try to make students comfortable and caring for students as they study in the classroom so that students can focus in learning and achieve the learning outcomes as desired by the teacher.

2. The Future Researcher

Because of the subjects are teachers who have many schedules to teach in the classroom, the researcher and the subjects had limited time to have meeting for observation and interview. It makes this research still have lack in some aspects and have not been revealed yet. So, for the next researcher ought to investigate this topic deeper and find more detail result. In addition, the future researcher can used this study as reference for conducting same topics and develop it to be more specific.
