

CHAPTER VI

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter presents conclusion and suggestion related to what the writer analyzed and discussed.

A. Conclusion

From the result of the study, it can be concluded that:

1. the learning problems in English speaking encountered by Thai students at English department of IAIN Tulungagung in second semester are (a) linguistic problem including lack of listening skill, lack of vocabulary, lack of grammatical knowledge and pronunciation (b) non-linguistic problem including afraid to make mistakes, anxiety, nothing to say, lack of practice speaking, and using more mother tongue. Meanwhile, the learning problems in English writing encountered by Thai students at English department of IAIN Tulungagung in second semester are (a) linguistic problem including lack of grammatical knowledge, lack of vocabulary, difficulty in building sentences, and difficulty to express idea into written text (b) non-linguistic problem including lack of practice writing, and low motivation.
2. The ways that Thai students at second semester use to solve their problem in English speaking are (a) practicing to speak to English with other people (b) increasing English vocabulary and phrases (d) watching English movie or video through Youtube (e) playing game (f) listening to songs (g) (f) reading English books (h) consulting with master in English such as senior or teacher. Meanwhile, the ways to solve problems in writing are (a) doing many exercises (b) learning more about improving English skill (c) reading English books (d) increasing new vocabularies (e) learning more about gramma through Youtube (f) practicing writing in English such making sentences.

B. Suggestion

Based on the result of the research finding, the writer would like to give some suggestion for the following people.

1. For the teachers

The teacher should always communicative in English with their students so that the students have opportunity to speak English. Possibly, students may share problems in learning speaking. Meanwhile, English writing is also hard skill to achieve. Therefore, the teacher should pat attention about English writing skill of the students. The important thing, the teacher should always give them feedback to their assignment about English writing.

2. For Students

Students should try to practice to speak English as much as possible. Because of speaking skill will be fluent or not, it depends on how long you practice. For improving English writing, students should always increase new vocabulary, practice writing in English and study about grammar. In addition, the Thai students should always consult with the teachers and ask them to give feedback.

3. For the future researcher

For the future researchers who want to conduct research in the same topic, the result of the study can be used as an additional reference or further research with different context.