

CHAPTER III

RESEARCH METHOD

This chapter consists of five parts, there are research design, subject of the research, data and data source, method of collecting data and research instrument, data analysis method.

A. Research Design

A research design is the instrument to structure the research, to indicate that all the major elements of the research have been designed to work together. Research design means the arrangement of conditions for collecting and analysing data in a fashion which aspires to combine relevance to the research purpose. This chapter presented to gave an explanation about what the researcher do in this research.

It is free to choose the forming and planning a research. The writer used the quantutative descriptive research to conduct the research. In this research, the researcher analyzes and presents the data about the expressive speech act of “The Fate of The Furious” movie.

B. Subject of the Research

The subject of the study in this research is the expressive speech act of “The Fate of The Furious” movie.

C. Data and Data Source

Data source is the subject where data got. Researchers need to consider the sources on which to base and confirm their research and findings. The researchers have a choice between primary data and secondary data. In addition, the researcher can also use of both, which is termed triangulation, or dual methodology. The data that we use in this study according to their origins can be classified as follows:

1. Primary Data

Primary data is data in the research process from the original source by using appropriate data collection (Safi’i, 2005:141). It means that the primary data is the data collected by the researcher themselves. The primary data in this research were taken from the dialogue in the movie

2. Secondary Data

Secondary data is data that is compiled but not by the researcher or data in the form of documents, for example, the articles, supporters, geographical data, and so on (Safi’i, 2005:141). It means that the secondary data are data that already exists. In this research, the secondary data were from the books, article, journal which are related to the study.

D. Method of Collecting Data and Research Instrument

In this research, there are several steps to collect the data. Firstly, the researcher watched the movie until understand the plot of the movie. Secondly, the researcher read the transcript of the fate of the furious movie. Thirdly, the researcher tried to find the expressive speech act in the movie. The last, the researcher analyzed the data that have been successfully collected by counting the percentages of each founding and make a conclusion from this research.

E. Data Analysis Method

Data analysis is the important step in the research, because it aims to examine the validity and reliability of data collective. In this research, the writer use quantitative descriptive method. In analyzing the data, the procedures used are as follows:

1. The writer watches the movie.
2. The writer read the transcript of the movie and learn all of the sentences in the transcription.

3. The writer found the expressive acts in the movie and found the percentage of each founding.
4. The writer make the conclusion based on the data analysis.
