

CHAPTER VI

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter contains two parts. The first part deals with the conclusion of the analysis of the most frequent verbs used in news article. The second part presents some suggestions derived from the implications of the conclusions.

A. Conclusion

News article or in the form of report writing has different language features and purposes with the other genres of text. As the function of the text is to describe or inform of some facts or information to the readers, the use of some certain kind of verbs become frequently used in the text. This study was purposed to reveals the most frequent verb classes that used in news article. The information about the most frequently used verbs in news report writing can be used by the learners to acknowledge more about the proper verbs that often used in news report. It can be used to help the learners in improving their vocabulary mastery in understanding news articles text and also it can be used as an addition references in using the appropriate verbs to describe the information to support their communication practices.

The finding of the analysis of top 150 frequent verbs list pointed out that there found twenty four verbs classes from Levin's (1993) English Verb Classes and Alternations. The result of the study showed that the most frequent used was verbs of communication. Verbs of communication become frequently appears in news article because of it is used to transfer the idea or the information to the readers. Verbs of communication are used to tell how the events is being described as a news. Without using communication verbs, the information cannot be transferred or communicated to the readers, therefore verbs are important factor in providing an event profile of the information. Besides, communication verbs also found use in quotes or comment sentences and also it is used in presenting the sources of the informations.

B. Suggestion

After drawing the conclusion above, the researcher in this section provides some suggestions which are important to be considered by the students, English teacher and other researchers who are interested in doing the same study or improve the current study.

1. The Students

The researcher suggests to the students to use this findings of the study to improve their knowledge of verbs that mostly used in news report. It can be used to help the students in understanding and acknowledging the vocabulary of verbs that can be used to understand news article well. Besides, the knowledge of verb and how it is used in real daily communication also could support their communication practices well.

2. English Teacher

The teacher can use the findings of the study to help to decide the vocabulary materials, especially verbs. Although there are available materials from the course book or curricula, it's better if the teacher also take some addition materials from the authentic data to complete it in achieving the learning objectives and also used to support the students to be able to communicate well by using appropriate verbs.

3. The Other Researchers

In this study, the researcher focuses on the most frequent verbs used in news articles which the corpus data was taken from the Fox News in a small size. The future researcher can conduct the study focuses on the most frequent verbs in news article within a larger size of the corpus data.